With such unpleasant events, the university walls are empty, a difficult stage of eliminating errors or litigation begins.

Some universities prefer to unnoticate their activities, others, on the contrary, sincerely believe in their bright future. Both variants of the development of events are quite real, it all depends on the goals set.

More often, the university who has not passed accreditation, seeks to correct all mistakes in the shortest possible time and already at the beginning of the new school year to open its doors to new applicants, students.

All this is possible if the current leadership is interested in the continuation of its activities, the organization of the educational process. When litigation begin, the problem is delayed by any semester, but to predict the junction is very problematic.

A little useful information to the student at a notes

So, the university did not pass state accreditation. The situation is irreversible, but it can be adapted to it. Further the student is waiting for proposals on the translation, you should not hurry with the final choice.

First you need to explore detailed information about all applicants and choose for yourself the most reliable option. Of course, see the period and availability of state accreditation from the Favorite.

The student must understand that when refusing to transfer, he actually turns out to be on the street. Event development options are somewhat - you will have to arrive again with a shared stream to another university and at the same time lose a few years of study.

Guys can generally get a summons in the army to pass through the urgent service during the nearest call. You can go to work, but employees without higher education are not particularly highly appreciated, and the salary amount often leaves much to be desired.

It is not necessary to categorically to translate, because in this question there are their weighty advantages to the student: the selected specialty and form of training is preserved, the student falls on the same course, the basis of training and cost is the stability in the provision of educational services under the contract.

The familiar route is changing to the university, pedagogical composition and face in the academic group, and this is no longer so substantial.

Refusal of state accreditation can be caught up with a higher educational institution by surprise, occur in the middle of the school year. However, this does not mean that the student will have to be checked until June, and to start further training only in September, while losing the whole year.

The gap and the chandelier will not be, since, by leaving one university, it is necessary to appear on training already the next day, if he, of course, is not a weekend. The educational process will not be broken, and all students will be able to prepare for the upcoming session thoroughly.

When transferring from one university to another, you can change the specialty if the student understands that it is not studying what plans to do in the future.

In this case, the former university is not responsible for such a translation, and it is performed on special for students-novice conditions.

For example, he will have to visit the academic difference, the transfer of a paid form of training is not excluded. Such issues are solved individually, so it will not prevent additionally to visit the deanate and communicate with knowledgeable people.

University, when eliminating all errors, can resume its activities on the previous conditions, and then the student will already decide independently, whether it should be returned or better to stay in a new place.

It all depends on the conditions, especially for some students, such an educational institution has exhausted the limit of trust, and they are categorically configured.

In any case, it is important for any university that it has state accreditation, and, accordingly, the right to issue diplomas about the highest formation of the established sample.

Conclusion: With not the passage of the university of state accreditation, the situation is not critical, for the student there are quite acceptable options for its prosperous permission. The main thing is not to slow down with the decision-making, to additionally consult with a lawsuit competent in the given direction. Everything can turn out at best.
